Into the ... with the boards would go their clerks. It will be proposed that the clerical duties now performed by these officials be given over to the clerks of the circuit courts.

A kindred recommendation will be that the number of division school superintendents be reduced "materially." There are now 112 of these officials in the State, ninety for the counties and twenty-two for the cities. The committee has been told by one in a position to know that the number of county superintendents may be reduced to sixty without disturbing the efficiency of school administration. It has been suggested that, in the case of a small ... one superintendent would do for the city and the county in which it is located.

Herman Lands Pike and Hawk in Same Net

Stockholm.—To catch a pike and a hawk in the same net is something which does not happen to many fishermen, but Karl Sohlman, of Tosmits, in the province of Vermland, has just accomplished the feat.

A large and powerful pike was caught in his net and a hawk, watching the attempts of the fish to free itself, swooped down in the hope of a meal. But its claws became tangled in the meshes and Sohlman hauled in a double catch. The bird was an unusually large specimen, measuring more than 3.28 feet between the wing tips.

STATE TAX MEN AND BANKERS IN ACCORD

Months of Negotiation Lead to Agreement on Changes Broadening Method of State or Local Taxation of National Banks.

NEW YORK.—Months of conference and negotiation between an American Bankers Association special committee and the Committee of the Association of States on Bank Taxation have resulted in an agreement on a form of amendment to the Federal statute dealing with state or local taxation of national banks that "maintains the integrity of the protective principles of the section and is satisfactory to the commissioners' committee," says the American Bankers Association Journal.

Thomas B. Paton, the organization's General Counsel, in making the announcement says that previously proposed amendments to the statute, which is known as Section 5219, have been opposed when it was felt their terms would enable any state to place banks in a tax class by themselves.

"The law as it stands today," Mr. Paton says, "permits state or local taxation of national banks or their shareholders in one or the other of the four following forms: the shareholders upon their shares,—a property tax; the shareholders upon their dividends,—a personal income tax; the bank upon its net income; the bank according to or measured by its net income. Only one form of tax can be imposed, except that the dividend tax may be combined with the third or fourth form if other corporations and shareholders are likewise taxed.

"The conditions permitted are: the tax on shares must be at no greater rate than on other competing moneyed capital; the income tax on shareholders must be at no greater rate than on net income from other moneyed capital; the tax on bank net income must be at no higher rate than on other financial corporations nor the highest rates on mercantile and manufacturing corporations doing business within the State; the tax measured by net bank income is subject to the same limitations as the tax on net income of the bank but may include income of the bank from all sources."

WHERE WEATHER MAN ACTS LIKE VILLAIN

It Was Real Hot in Kansas This Summer.

Topeka, Kan.—It has been rather hot all over the United States this summer, but in Kansas the weather man has been acting up like a demon.

For instance, Jule Trowbridge is a farmhand in Gove county. He was employed on the farm of Rev. Gerrit Snyder near Gove City. One afternoon he was directed to walk over to some stacks of barley and bring in some equipment. He walked through the barley stubble and his feet kept getting hotter and hotter. He looked down and both feet were actually on fire. The friction of the leather of his shoes on the hot ground and the hot straw of the stubble actually set his shoes on fire. Trowbridge took off his shoes and began fighting the fire in the stubble field. Others came to his aid and when the fire was out Trowbridge was taken to Dr. R. L. Sutton at Grainfield and his burned feet dressed.

Boiled Goldfish.

The records of the Kansas state fire marshal contain authentic reports of numerous fires in homes caused entirely by sun rays. In one instance the sun rays struck the beveled edge of a mirror and then reflected to the rug and set the rug on fire. In another home a bubble in the glass of a window made a magnifying glass of the spot and set fire to a bed.

W. A. Smith of Spokomo walked into the living room of his home late one afternoon and noted that the goldfish were dead. He reached into the bowl and his hand was blistered. A sun ray had struck the bowl and had literally boiled the fish to death. At least that's his story and he has the bowl but no fish to show for it.

There have been innumerable fires caused by steel getting too hot. Some stacks of hay and wheat have been burned and many fields swept by fire as the result of pitchforks standing in the hay or straw and catching the hot rays of the sun. There are a few instances of where pieces of wire left in stubble fields have become so hot as to set fire to stubble, and there are a few reports of where high and dend grass along fences have been set on fire by the heat of the wires.

Cars Driven Backwards.

It is not an unusual sight to see motor cars of a certain well-known type being driven backwards across the Kansas prairies. The burning sun on the differential on the rear axle had burned out the grease and wrecked the gears so that the cars would not run forward at all. Tourists had to drive home or to the next service station sitting on the dashboards and piloting the car backwards.

But the hot weather has been great for the birds. They got cooked insects. Motorists driving across the prairies strike grasshoppers and butterflies and other insects in large numbers. The heat of the radiators and the boiling sun cooked the insects. When the cars stopped anywhere the

Better Breakfasts

HOW shall we make them better? By better food, better table-setting and better disposition. The latter will be inevitable. Use glassware instead of china to make your table setting. It is inexpensive, and it suggests a fresh new meal. It is a splendid way to start the day. Wild-rose pink dishes on a green cloth are pretty. So is white crystal on a flowered glass chintz cloth, or, if you like, with taffeta glassware on egg-shell linen damask.
And now, anyway for the better food! Be sure that it is colorful food. Did you know that sunken brown is said to be the most appetizing color for foods? Well, here is an autumn menu of golden browns, reds and golds.

The Food Calendar

The calendar does much to keep life from becoming monotonous. Whether it be, we must change our clothing suits for fur coats and our golf sticks for skis. Once upon a time we had to change our food, whether or no—until canned foods came along and gave us our favorite strawberries in winter and oysters in summer.
All the same, it is just as well to have a food calendar and jot down, from the long list of food in cans, those that especially appeal for each season. Here are some suggestions.
Add Yours to These
Fall: Kidney beans, beets, okra with tomatoes, green peppers, pumpkin, cider; sugar, tomatoes, sauerkraut, apple butter, wine, fruit salad, oysters, codfish, tuna, salmon, frankfurters, veal roast, mutton broth, apricots, pears.
Winter: Beans with pork, cabbage, whole kernel corn, hominy, cranberry sauce, figs, prunes, mackerel, oysters, chili con carne, fruit cake, mincemeat, popcorn, fig pudding, plum pudding, spaghetti, tomato sauce, corned beef, whole ham, Boston bread, turkey, mulligan stew, soup, okra soup, vermicelli, Irish stew, sausages with sauerkraut.
Spring: Artichokes, broccoli, carrots and peas, mushrooms, spinach, turnip greens, vegetable salad, rhubarb, shrimps, lobster, clam cakes, creamed white potatoes, sliced bacon, deviled ham, tongue, veal roast, creamed chicken soup, pea soup.
Summer: Asparagus tips, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, mustard greens, fruits for salad, berries, cherries, peaches, pineapple, chicken salad, rice, crab meat, grapefruit juice, whole chicken, veal loaf, chicken broth, purée of celery soup.
